

Understand the process and make an informed decision about engaging IFW Global services

What's involved with a consultation

IFW Global will review and assess your case to propose the best possible actions and make recommendations on how to recover your losses based on decades of experience.

In your consultation, we explain the whole process involved in recovery, what the likely costs will be and the outcome of an investigation

Covert surveillance investigators

Covert surveillance is a powerful investigative tool used to monitor and unmask a person's activities – all whilst remaining under the radar. Consequently, attempting to gather this information alone can be challenging, complex and often unsuccessful.

With over 30 years' experience in physical and electronic surveillance, IFW works on behalf of individuals, businesses, corporations, foreign governments and legal firms across the globe.

Whether your aim is to expose criminal misconduct or shed light on suspected wrongdoing, our skilled surveillance investigators use state-of-the-art equipment to collect lawful evidence for prosecution or intelligence for informed decision making. Contact us today to uncover the truth

Covert surveillance services can reveal activities such as:

- Insurance fraud
- Workplace theft and fraud
- Corporate fraud
- Corporate due diligence
- Employee dishonesty and/or misconduct
- Misuse of business assets
- Extortion and embezzlement
- Copyright infringement
- Involvement in illicit dealings
- Partner infidelity
- Hidden assets in divorce and child custody matters
- Witness identification and location

Covert surveillance investigators with a proven track record

Licensed surveillance investigators

With backgrounds including law enforcement, foreign intelligence, military special forces and corporate security, our licensed operatives are highly skilled in covert and remote surveillance of all kinds.

Lawful evidence

All of IFW's covert surveillance procedures are performed professionally and legally. This helps to ensure that any information gathered is admissible in Court, equipping you to take corrective action if required.

Expert strategies

IFW uses innovative covert surveillance techniques and the latest electronic equipment to gather real-world evidence and intelligence for use in litigation. When authorized, extra technical resources such as lawful tracking devices may be used to achieve successful outcomes on operations.

Global reach

With open-source intelligence capabilities, direct access to state and federal databases and strategic relationships with law enforcement agencies around the world, our covert surveillance investigators can gather actionable intelligence and information in any foreign jurisdiction.

Complete confidentiality

Client privacy is paramount, which is why IFW never discloses case details without consent. When conducting an investigation, we will securely file and encrypt all personal data to ensure it is stored safely.

Renowned results

With a vast portfolio of successful outcomes, IFW surveillance services are retained by international law firms, multinational corporations, foreign government agencies, high-net-worth individuals, major television networks and digital media.
